"Gehlen was given a decisive influence on American policy."

"As early as 1947, Gehlen confided that he was reckoning on the armed conflict, the Russians and Americans would tear each other to pieces, and he would have a rearmed Germany to create a new Order."

Book Review of Colin Simpson's LUSITANIA
American Opinion, 1974
Medford Evans )

"History does have a plot to unravel.

The world is bewildering, most bewildering to those who study it most.

The world is terrifying, especially to those who have the courage to face it.

The consolation is that nothing is without meaning, whether we can explain it or not.

The Lusitania is interesting, not because of Pearl Harbor, or the Kennedy assassination, BUT BECAUSE OF THINGS TO COME.

Why should one feel that what happened to the Lusitania is one of those old, far off things, while the secret of Pearl Harbor, or the Kennedy assassination, now ten years old, is an unresolved controversy still on the docket?

THE ANSWER IS THAT ALL THESE MATTERS ARE STILL ON THE DOCKET.

HISTORY IS NOT A SUCCESSION OF DISCRETE EVENTS, BUT A TAPESTRY WOVEN OF MANY STRANDS IN WHICH MOTIFS, AND TYPE CAST CHARACTERS APPEAR AND REAPPEAR, IN WHICH PLOTS AND SUBPLOTS ARE INTERFACED."

Gen. Reinhard Gehlen, John Foster Dulles, Allen Dulles, and Henry Luce are names that should never be forgotten. Study them. Read their influence. Throw in Herbert Hoover and Warren G. Harding.
